Help is available when you need it!

Negotia's core activities provide our members with advice and legal assistance when they need it, as well as help during pay negotiations. We are here to help you when difficult situations at work arise. Negotia's members benefit from a team of experienced union representatives, advisors and lawyers who understand the ins and outs of employment and labour issues.

As a member you can request assistance on many issues:

- Qualified consultants and advisors will help you deal with problems at work
- We offer personal follow-up
- Free legal assistance in labour disputes*
- Improved influence and strengthened rights during collective salary negotiations

* The right to legal assistance requires a minimum of three months of membership, none outstanding payments and is limited to disputes that have occurred after joining Negotia.
